

Jeyhun MAMMADOV

Born in Baku in 1996, he completed his primary and secondary education there and was accepted to the Flight Engineering (Pilotage) department at the National Aviation Academy in 2015. After five years of undergraduate study, he earned his bachelor's degree in pilotage.

Following his studies, he successfully completed the graduate selection process organized as part of a collaboration between Azerbaijan Airlines and the Atlantic Flight Academy (AFA). Following this process, he began his training as a cadet pilot at the Atlantic Flight Academy to continue his pilot training. His training is currently ongoing.
